Dedication

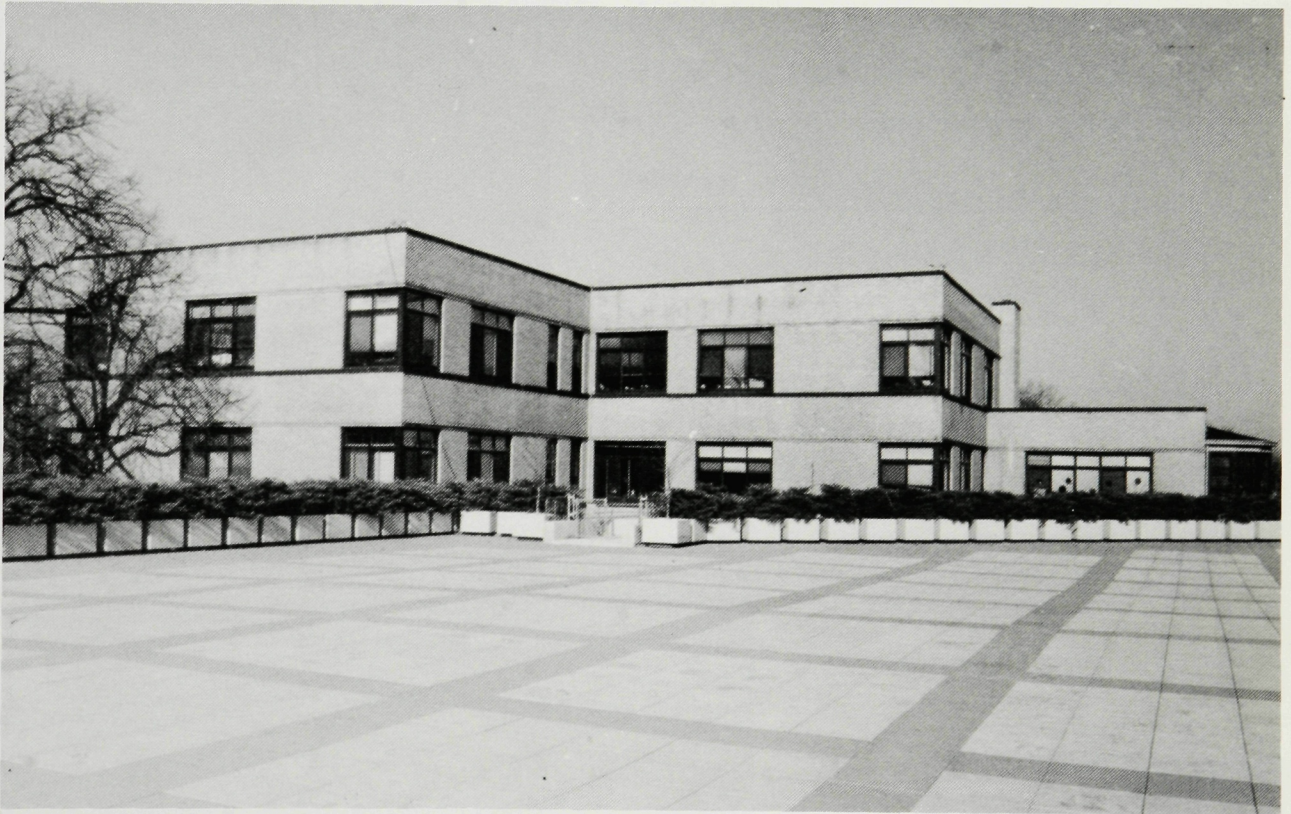

One needs only to have one class with this man to see why he is loved so much. He is known for such phrases as "we're off like a herd of turtles" or "cut out the broo ha-ha." He has directed us in work day for many years; we don't know where we would be without his whistle and his finger, pointing to direct us. With his wonderful sense of humor, he has put up with our class and all the rest for many years. We, the class of 1990, would like to dedicate the 1989-1990 Mirror, to show our deep appreciation and thanks, to Mr. William Freisem.

To Deane Lanphear,

We, of the Yearbook Staff and the rest of the student body, wish to wholesomely welcome you to our large family we simply call North Shore. We think you are mighty keen. Let's take a moment to ponder this with a moment of silence..... Okay, that's enough. We know you will do and have already started doing a great job running our fine little "preparatory school, one of the best in the country" (to quote the brochure). By the way, we think you and your gray hairs that you earned are cute, too.

Fondly,

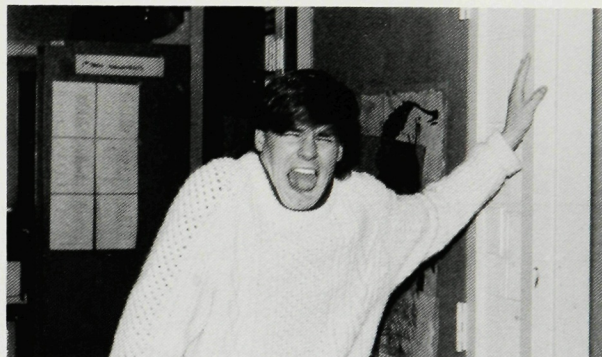

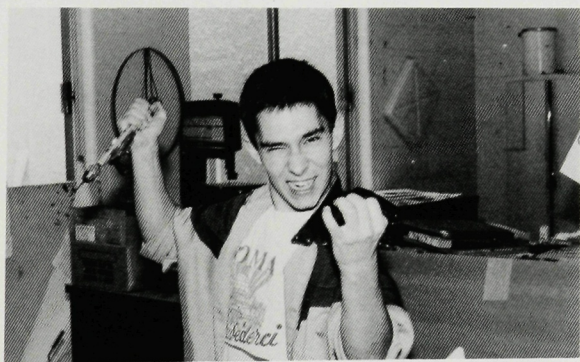

The Whole Darn School

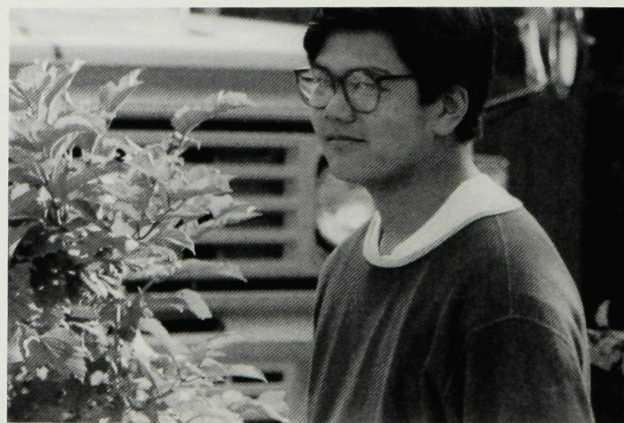

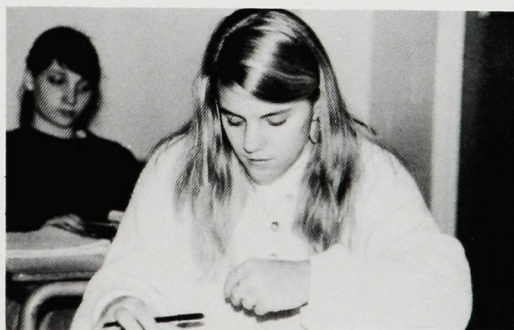

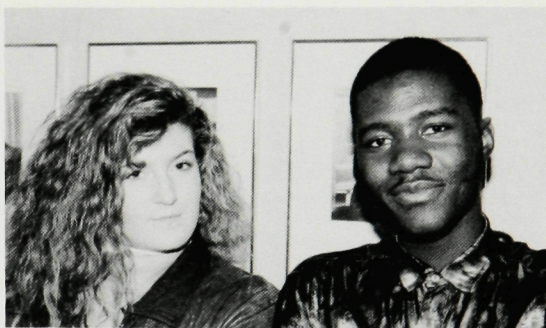

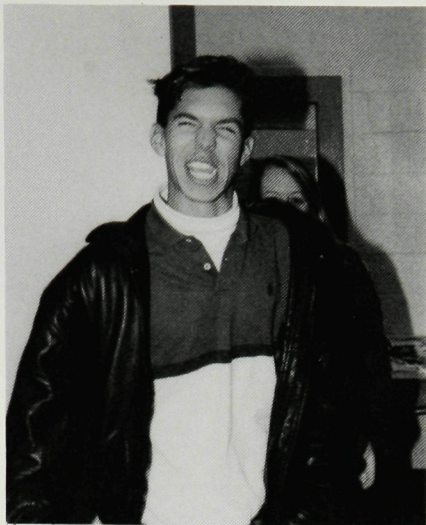

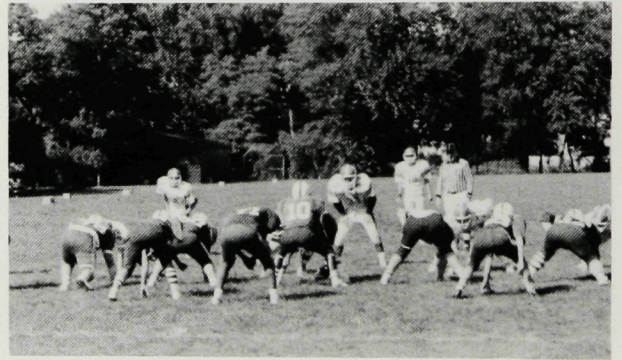

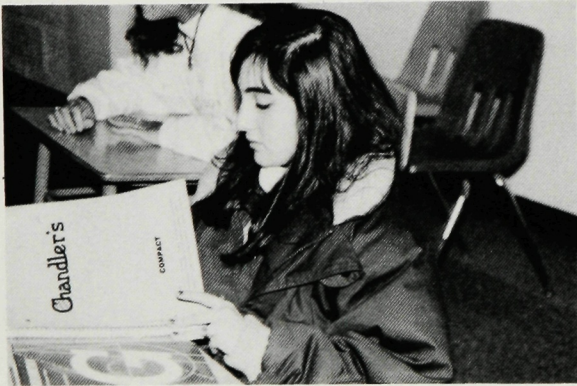

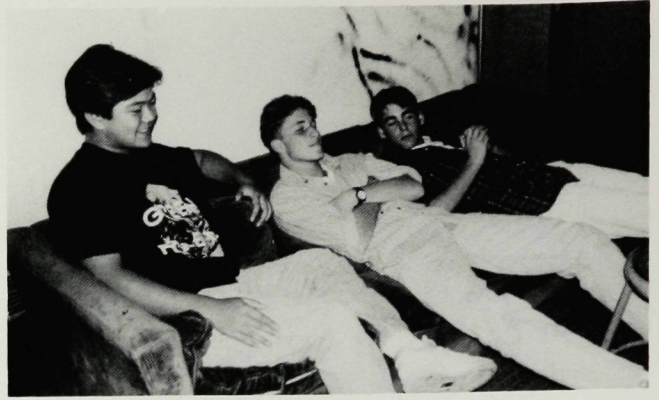

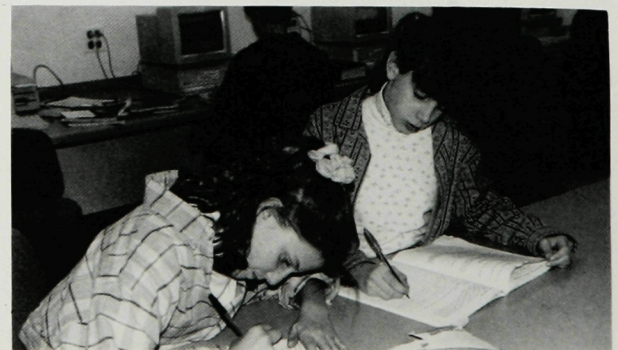

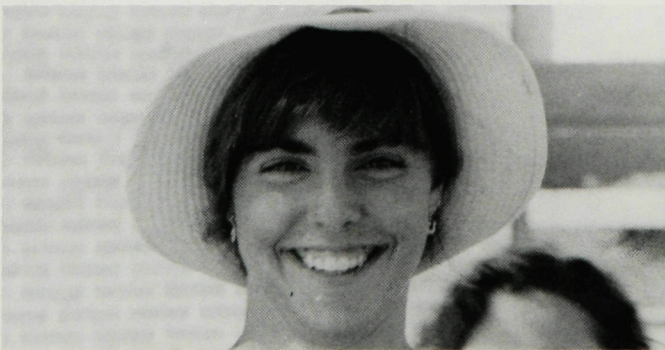

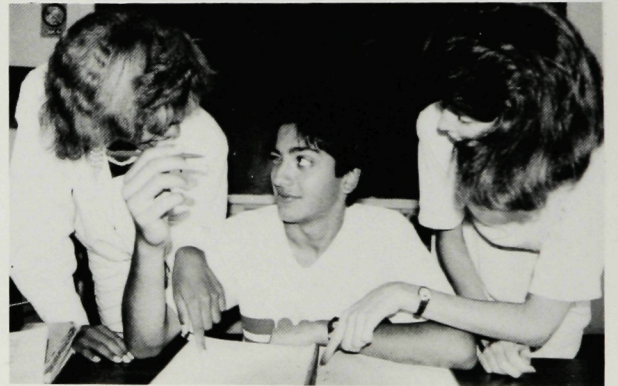

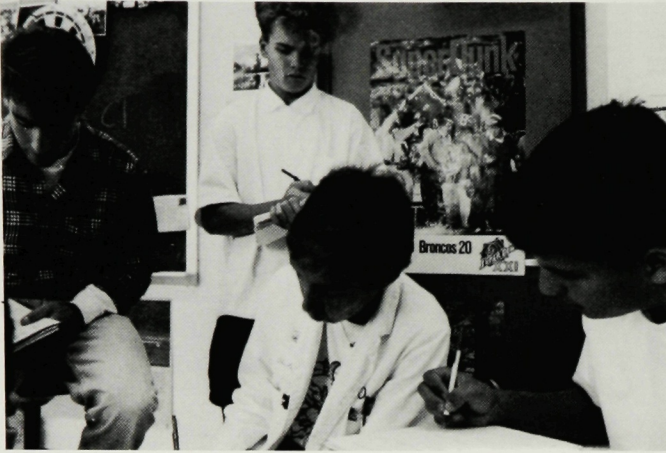

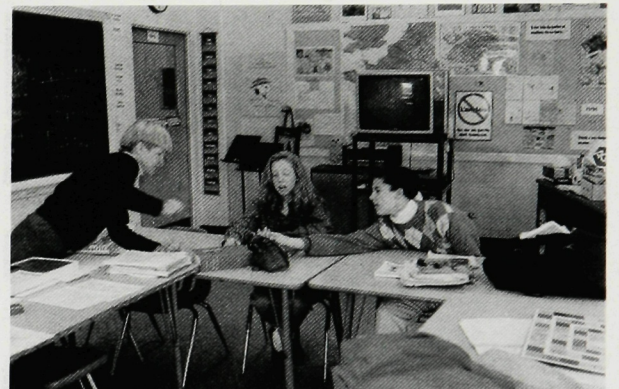

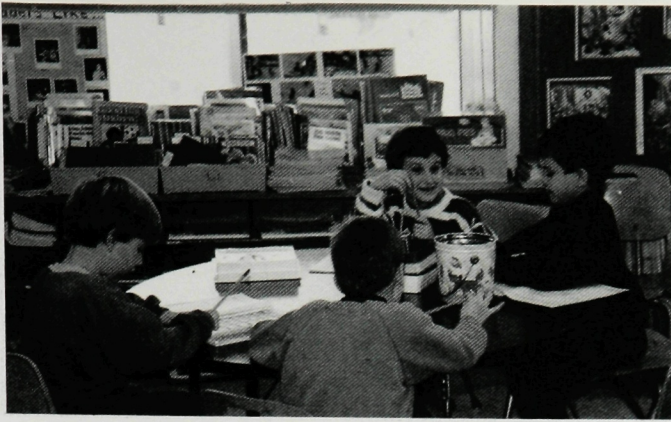

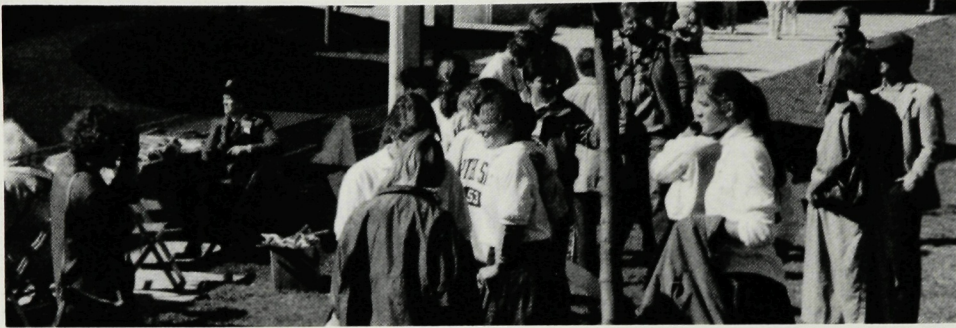

[illegible]

A black and white photograph showing a pile of torn, overlapping strips of paper. The strips are scattered across a dark, textured background. Each strip has handwritten text in capital letters, which is upside down relative to the other strips. The visible text includes: "FALL PLAY", "INTERIM", "LAUS PART", "THAT", "HATTOLEEN", "DIVIDING", "LOWE", "VORKSIGHT", "DAY", "MCKENNA", "VANDENITE", "THAT NIGHT", "SQUAD", and "THAT NIGHT". The strips are of varying lengths and are torn at irregular edges, creating a chaotic and layered appearance.

Homecoming

Well, it was somewhat of a depressing Homecoming, with a loss of XXXX (Censored on account of the pride of the team). Anyway, the weather was nice and there was an attempt at a parade. Of course, Danny came in the chicken outfit (what it has to do with North Shore, I'm not sure. Maybe there were no Pirate outfits at the costume shop, only blue chickens.) To get to the point, we all had a heck of a lot of fun.

Fall Show

All right, lets talk about Maciej. He wants me to. He was really good in it. While we're on that subject, I was pretty good, too. I guess the rest of the people did well, at least in terms of supporting us. It was so good, that Hollywood is going to do a sequel. However, there will be no murder, only a black eye on Paravicini, due to an argument over a cribbage game. There will also be a passionate love scene between Miss Casewell and Major Metcalf. Watch for it! (Also watch for the dead silences falling from the ceiling.)

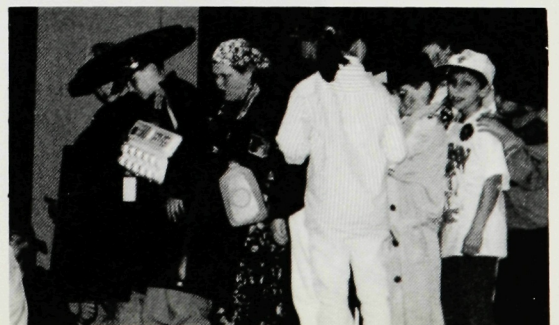

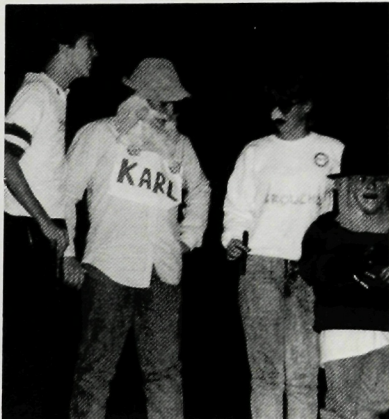

Halloween

We Dressed Up!!!!

1. Cowboys (of course)
2. Princesses (has to be)
3. Ghosts (always)
4. Pirates (traditional)
5. Witches (like there should be)
6. Punks, Ghostbusters, football players, animals, Boso, Keith Partridge, and other heroes of our childhood

Work Day

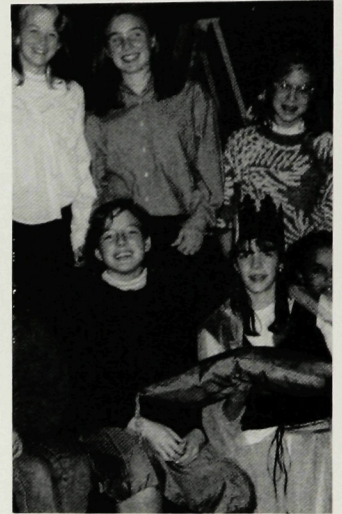

Work Day, the day when we get to skip school to play outside. Odd. Well, according to Mr. Freisem we were not supposed to have fun, just work, but I think we successfully snuck some in. I know some of the kindergarteners had some fun when they treed me and then tried to knock me down with rakes. Duck-Duck Goose was tremendous amounts of fun, as always, and the assembly good, a bit weird (as always) but good. So we had another superb day of work.

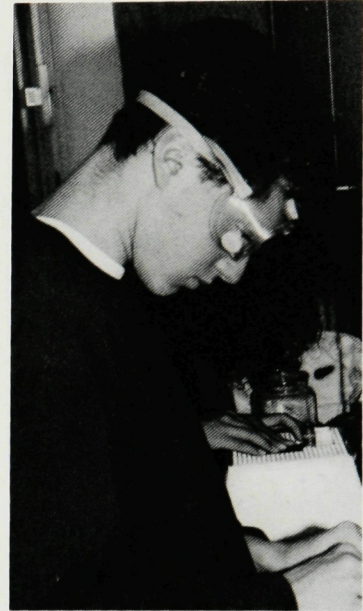

Thanksgiving, North Shore Style

Looking back on the past year, you may remember something a little different for the Thanksgiving Morning Ex. Instead of Indians and Turkeys on the stage, the Morning Ex. was dedicated and all about the life and works of Hans Christian Anderson. It was a good idea and was carried out well. It was a nice way to learn (or remember) about Anderson. Is a new tradition blooming here? Only time will tell, but let's hope so.

Interim Week and Night

Once again, in the North Shore tradition, we all gathered to share our Interim Week experiences on that night-of-knowledge, Interim Night. There where slides, talks, and various other ways of conveying the information gained in the week. During the week, the students had a choice of many different activities. If one wanted to leave town (if, say, maybe the cops were on your trail and you needed a week to let things cool down), there were a few choices, like Outward Bound, Crow Canyon, or Germany. So both the week and the night went very well.

Madrigal Feast A New Tradition?

The second annual Madrigal Feast went off very well. There was singing, eating, jesting (?), groveling from serfs, and even a play performed by the Theater I class. The event was so big that some people even sang the Drunk Philosopher's Song from Monty Python. It was great. The chorus did very well with singing many more songs than last year. It seems this is a blossoming tradition at North Shore and will continue to be.

The Holiday Program

Takes Place in an Enchanted Forest

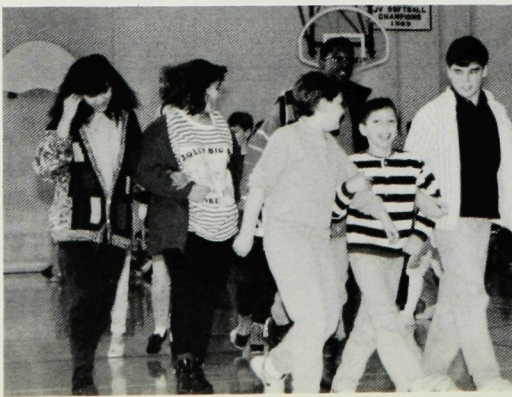

"Together a feather, we'll find a feather together" the forest elves say to the two young boys. This years holiday program had many little forest creatures in it. There were elves, magic trees, birds, bears, snowflakes and a group of sorcerers. Occasionally with the little elves and bears, two bigger ones would be there with them. The story this year revolved around two boys trying to open the sorcerers' magic book with the secret code word. Finally through the help of the forest inhabitants they realize that friendship is the key to open the book. The show was done in typical Lower School fashion with cute little songs and dances. These, of course, make this program an enjoyable part of the holiday tradition at North Shore.

Santa Claus Dance

This year's dances had a sort of an Eastearn European influence, with the students on the gym floor doing polkas. Wow, that was an incredible sight. Of course, the seniors did the Hokey Pokey and enjoyed it thoroughly. The kindergartners also enjoyed that annual dance. Santa made time in his(or should we say her) busy schedule to visit North Shore and spread some Christmas cheer.

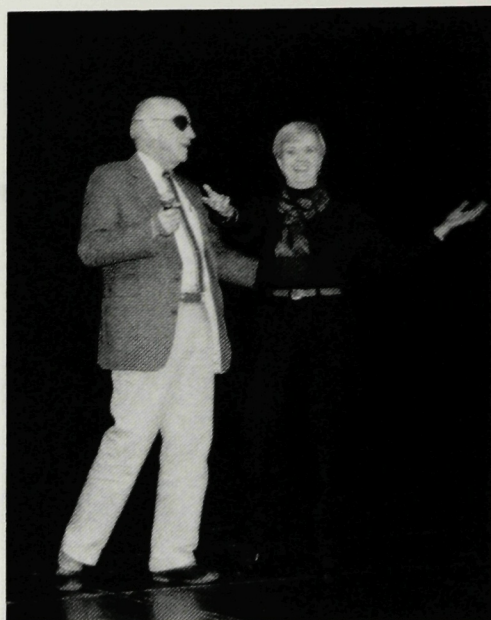

Other than the names of people and some fash-ions, though, it is probably safe to assume that it was very similiar to the many other years, since it is a highly traditional and well loved annual event.

The First Vaudeville of the Decade

There is no questioning the fact that Vaudeville was pretty last minute this year. (The first rehearsal was the night before the show.) However, despite some set backs, it went off really well. The people in it had a rocking good time and the audience loved it, too. Speaking of rocking, there was a band there made up of Danny Beider, Benji de la Fuente, Lorin Cohen, Brian Resendiz, and Stuart Lax. The M.C.s of this colossal event were Paula Castillo, Heidi Rudolph, and Todd Rohlen. It was sort of a musical Vaudeville with most of the acts being singing or dancing, but there were a couple of comedy sketches, like the blackouts by Randall, Alan, Todd, Josh, and Joanne. (You may be thinking this is an awful lot to be writing for just one event, except that there is a rumor going around saying that most of pictures of Vaudeville were eaten by the darkroom monster. And, as they say, a picture is worth a thousand words, so we are reversing that saying. We have 826 words to go.) The whole thing went off pretty well, even with Randall mistaking himself for Paula when she ditched the beginning of the show. Anyway, hope you come next year! It is a guaranteed barrel-o-fun (Still 786 words to go. Forget it. Maybe next year you just come and see it for yourself.)

Something exciting is needed here like the Moremoremore Morning Ex. of a couple of years ago. But we can't give you that so we will just talk about the time honored tradition of Morning Ex. This year really had no recurrent motif such as TRASH. We witnessed many programs of people's summer vacations, maybe one too many. There were also choral programs, like the Princeton Nassons and Upper School chorus at Christmas time. Basically this year was a pretty average year for the morning exercise scene.

Your Practically Perfect Yearbook

Staff

This years yearbook staff was composed of a lot of procrastinators. But we did meet every deadline with the help of the nifty keen knew Mac. Procrastination was our only flaw; we had many other wonderful traits. Well maybe except for not being able to get together for a group picture. But that was it we are perfect otherwise.

To start out with we had two copy editors, because it is a big job even for Todd Rohlen and Randall Maconachy. The two of them though did get all the copy done, eventually, with the help of their little staff copy writers. Randall generally would come in and look at old pictures of Wayne Schroderous. This was probably the source of inspiration for him. Todd seemed to enjoy the fact that he could get, sometimes, others from their copy staff to do the copy for him. The two of them together could come up with some of the bizarrest copy one has ever seen.

Keary Rosen our layout editor was a perfectionist. Probably one would never have guessed this, but he is. Every page that was layed out with percision to the last millimeter was layed out by him. He also came up with the idea of doing the senior pages, on week-ends, in the senior homeroom. This allowed us to get some much needed air and light.

Both Todd and Keary helped our wonderful phography editor Rob McClung. Rob took many pictures with only a few weeks notice. We didn't see much of Rob in the office, except when he gave pictures to the wonderful editor Beth. This practice was soon ended because of a lack of time on all deadlines. So baisically Rob was rarely seen.

Business manager Stefani Tomaras followed usual ettiquette for business mangers by not ever showing up in the office. Once in a while for a two minute meeting Stefani showed up. Unfortunately, for her she never got to know the feeling of being cooped up in the tiney-tiny yearbook office.

Beth Cavanaugh was our wonderful leader and editor-in-chief. Unlike most editors in the past as time went by she actually got to do her job. Nothing but sit, supervise, and answer questions. Because of this occurence she could be seen staring at the wall thinking of things to do. Usually this consisted of a list of what others needed to do. This might have been because she avoided a couple of deadlines to be mailed, because of vacation. Though, then there were other times when she was the yearbook superwoman, and did almost everybody's job.

The staff would also like to thank Mr. Conroy for helping out in almost any way he could. Also Mr. Almquist deserves many thanks for taking a lot of the pictures. There were other people who helped us out too, whom we would like to thank, especially Liam, my ten year old brother. Thanks Liam.

Our Fine Paper

The Dillar Street Journal

In the beginning there was no leader called the Editor-in-Chief, but.... then came Kathy Stephan. Yes, in the middle of the year Kathy Stephan took the role as editor-in-chief of the Diller Street Journal. This year the DSJ had to share their beloved Mac with Beth and her yearbook people. So, once in a while these dedicated journalists had to wait in line to use the Mac. But in spite of this they were able to put out a great paper .

The New and Improved Student Council

This year's student council was different from all other years. This year all the students elected the president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. Student council, headed by Peggy Smith and advised by Mr. Conroy, another change, tried to get North Shore to recycle. Though, this year it doesn't seem to be a large priority in everyone's mind. There were also projects set up to help the people of Mozambique. Many groups were smaller groups of student council such as the minority peer group. Overall they probably achieved what they wanted get done. Which is what counts.

Chorus, An Experience For All

Chorus 1989-1990 has been quite an experience. We've learned a lot, from the importance of cold showers to sight reading, to the fact that Mr.

Wallenberg's piano is used to his spitting in it (No, Really! He told us that!) Without a doubt, this group of six sopranos, six altos, two tenors, and a bass has really improved since September. We are proud to say that there is nary a flabby stomach to be seen as we sing. From the first time we took 20 minutes warming up before performing in the Madrigal Feaste, to being he backbone of Oliver!, our humble l'il singing group has had many a bonding experience. Oh, and we mustn't forget, we all loved seeing our boys, plus several other, singing barbershop in their fabulous bell-bottoms for Vaudeville.

Girls Atheletic

Project Association

Does G.A.P.A. exist? this is a question that many people ask. One can't seem to recall if elections were even held. There must be some sort of organization because who else would spend their time raising money for such a worthy cause, new uniforms and sports equipment for the girls. Maybe that's it, nobody needs anything new this year, thus there is no more G.A.P.A. The balloons were blown up by someone so it must have been the ghosts of G.A.P.A. in the past years.

More Than Just Raising Money

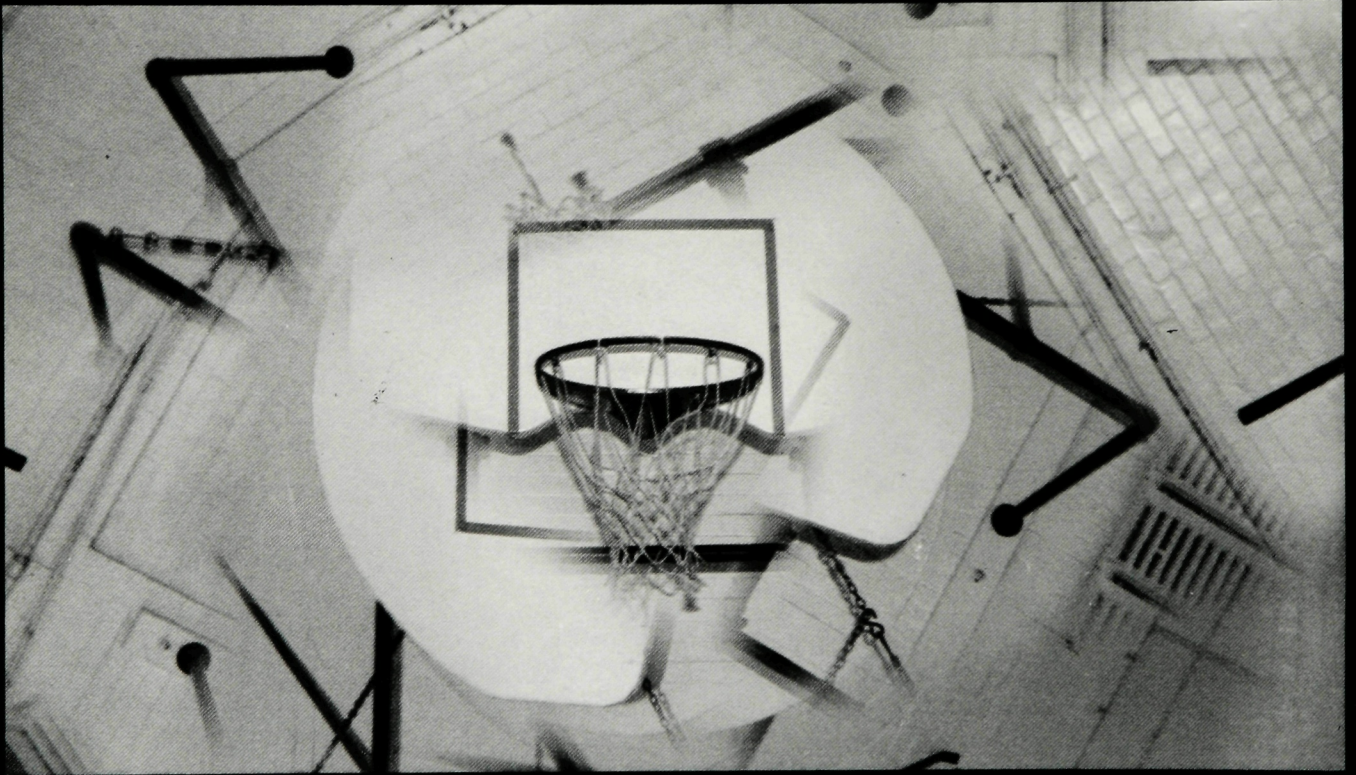

For M.S. Forum

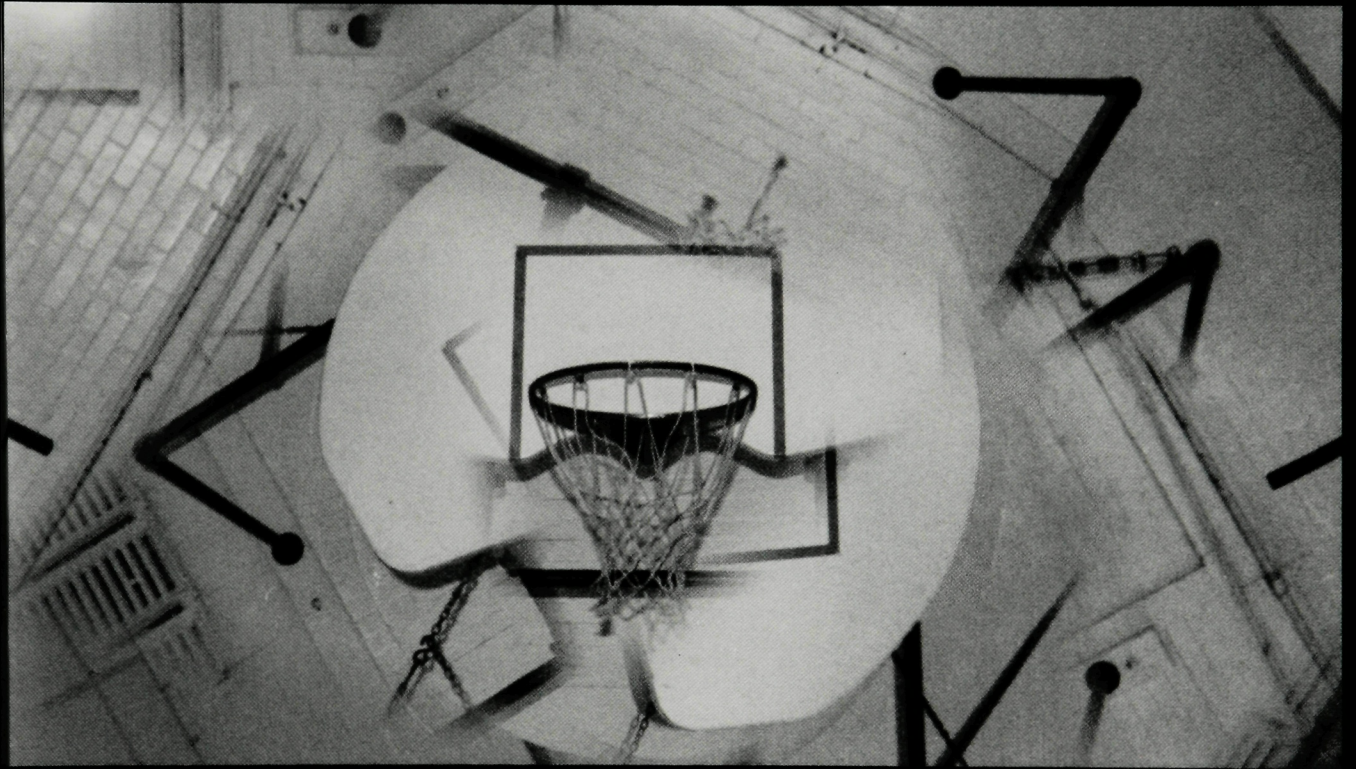

This year's Middle School Forum does more than just raise money, they plan social events. All the dances and fieldtrips, that are for the whole Middle School, are planned by the Forum. On one such fieldtrip everyone in grades six through eight went ice skating. The forum has also organized such events as a food drive, through a church in Northbrook, for the hungry in Chicago. To let the rest of the Middle School know what is happening they hold town meeting, similar to those in the Upper School. As a spin off from the Forum there is an eighth grade council. This was designed by the students and is run by the students. Lunchtime meetings are held irregularly. This makes this years M.S. Forum one of the more interesting.

"Oh, oh Baby!"

Oh, what a feeling!

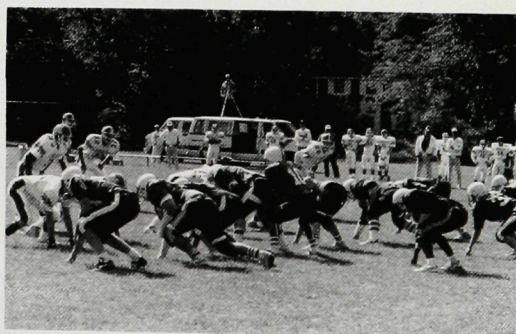

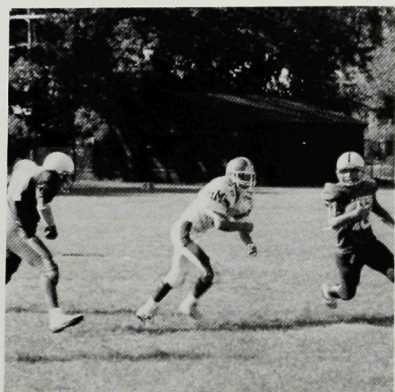

In the early days of practice, the football team knew the upcoming season would be a good one. The respectable final record of 4-4 is only a partial indicator of their success. They started off with convincing victories over Roosevelt and Lalumiere. Then after loosing to the Ramblers of Mooseheart at Mooseheart, the Raiders beat Mooseheart convincingly at home. After a victory against Mooseheart, the Raiders knew nothing was impossible. After a 6-0 half-time deficit, the Raiders came back to score 13 second half points to beat Hebron. As the saying goes, "the icing on the cake" was the late fourth quarter goal line stand of the Raiders. "They didn't try anything fancy, but they went right at one of our best guys on the line," said McCarty of 5-foot-10, 220-pound tackle Mike Isreal," said one report, With 1.30 seconds on the clock-the Raiders stopped 4 attempts by Hebron to score. This was the fourth victory in 5 games, but, unfortunately, the last. In the next game, Lake Forest scored a victory over North Shore. North Shore Football then lost its next two games to end with a 4-4 record.

"Danielson, just do like this!"

Wow, this looks like an enthralling game.

This year's Upper School Soccer Team did not have a real great season. The team had a fun bunch of guys, but that did not give them the strength they needed on the field. They won both games against Morgan Park; however the rest of the games did not go so well. One highlight was the game against New Trier, which they did much better than everyone thought they would. The Team only lost 4 to 0, as opposed to the predicted 15/0. The new guys from the football team made a somewhat of a difference. In the years to come, though, when everyone gets used to playing both football and soccer, the Team should be a whole lot better.

Upper School

The 1989 Field Hockey season was a lot of fun and I think everyone improved in their game. Even though we lost 5 great seniors from last year, our varsity and J.V. teams played extremely well and won a lot of games and learned from the ones we lost. The new comers to the team got to know one another and others got to know their friends better. We also learned how to play as a team. I feel that next year we will have a great team, I'm really looking forward to next year.

Although we did not go as far as we hoped we would, this year's volleyball season was certainly the most fun one we'd ever had. As one of the captains, I should say that everyone worked hard and was wonderful, but...(just kidding guys). We were very glad to have our redheaded, freckled faced, all knowing, slave driver of a coach, Bert, return this year, which was one of the reasons that it was "Volleyball '89."

Upper School Boys Basketball

The North Shore basketball team didn't fare too well after the Jason Rosenberg Era. Only two varsity members returned for the Raiders this year, so the team didn't look too good. With the addition of several transfer students, the team looked like they could win a few games. Other basketball teams, however, became stronger than what we had expected. This year was considered to be a growth period by many. Next year's basketball team should be much improved, because of maturation, experience, and the right attitude.

Being a senior this year, I played my fourth, and last, season of basketball. Throughout the last four years, basketball has always been my favorite sport. This year was no exception. We had a really great team. This year new talent was added to the team and, the vets brushed up on their skills to make the team better than ever. We did well in regionals, playing a team we had never played before, and we defeated our rivals, Lake Forest Academy, bumping them out of first place. It was a great season, and speaking for the seniors, I know that we will all miss it next year.

When asked about the '89 Middle School Football season one of there many articulat players described it as being only mediocre, but claimed that they showed lots of potential. He felt it had been fun and that the team had worked well together. It was put simply as "a season of learning and growing, but not scoring.

MS Soccer

The year started with a negative tone, but that did not last long. Soon the wins started piling up. The season ended with a winning record. Gaby Levi (7th) stated that it was a good team that played well. The soccer team may have been the most successful fall team this year. However, there is a twist. The team was made up of almost entirely Sixth and Seventh graders, so it should be even better in the next couple of years. Let's keep our fingers crossed.

Neither row 1 nor 2: Lucas Mills, Chad Charowhas, Dan Wirtz Middle People: Bob Zelle, Jason Butler, Nat Durban, Gaby Levi, Jared Michaels, Nat Petre.
The First Row: Dan Rosenberg, Chris Wang, Andrew Richards, Morgan Campbell, Joe Fortunato, Adam Ellison

MS Field Hockey

Row 3: Kristi Keats, Liz Peterson, Seema Sharma, Jenny Edidin or Amy Marinacci with Carin Healy & Laura Fifield, Katie Whittlesey - Margaret Urban, Jenny Arrington, Jenny Caldwell

Row 2: Devon Levi next to Vanessa Price and Anne Pinkert with her friend Susan Pope and Erin Sexton and Anne Dorr, Natalie McKnew w/Nikola Kravitt et Hadley Lewis, Maggie Marzano, Margit Zsolnay.

Row 1: (not standing) Carolyn Passino, Melanie Lewis, Jenny Franklin, Dana brown, A Messiah, Meredith Lavander, Jenn Wolter, Rashi Dhanda, Brooke Price.

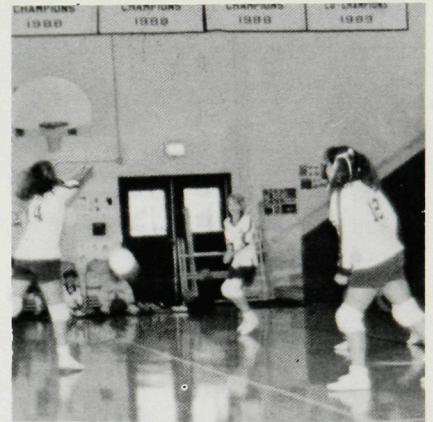

The reflection of this year might bring back memories to some of an interesting Field Hockey season in the Middle School. The higher level had a very successful season and the Eighth graders were described as “awesome!” Some of the Sixth grade girls, namely Meredith Lavander, Jenn Wolter, and Hadley Lewis, described the second level team a bit differently. They had a losing season, but had lots of fun because “the sport is fun, and you’re with all of your friends.” A great quote from this trio is, “The skirts stink. We look like pansies!”

Middle School Volleyball

This year's volleyball season was okay, with about half of the games being won. Angela Richardson (7th) described the team very positively despite the record. She said it was small, so it was easier to get to know people and they all got closer. Everyone pitched in whether it was bringing food, shouting encouragement, or whatever. The team is probably best summed up as a "VERY supportive team."

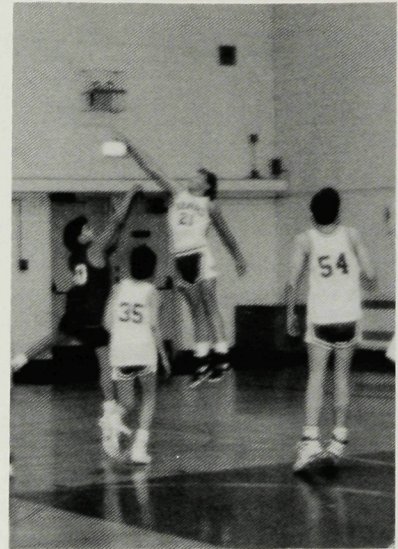

Middle School Boys Basketball

2nd row: Nate Petrie, Andy Richards, Danny Rosenberg, Peter Smey, Jamie Ferguson.

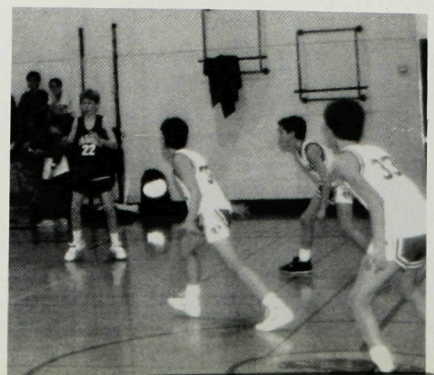

The Middle School Boys Basketball team had a great season this year. There was good playing as can be seen by the 9-4 record. Chris Lee and Peter Lehman said the team itself was "Okay" but that, in the future, more offensive moves would help. The team won the Francis Parker tournament, bringing the season to a successful close.

Eighth Grade Team

2nd row: Jon Balen-Tilken, Peter De Young, J.P. Marzano, John Brennen, Josh Opdyke, Chris Lee, Kris Baade.

Middle School Girls Basketball

Middle School Girl's Basketball was a lot of fun, but it was hard work. In the beginning of the season, we didn't do very well, but towards the end, the Eighth grade team did really well. Our season was 4-5. Three of the losses were just by one point. Our best game was when we played Lake Forest Country Day and N.S. killed them. Katie Whittlesey scored 14 points; Laura Fifield scored 10; Amy Marinacci scored 6; Seema Sharma scored 2; Marnie Wienke scored 2 and all had great moves.

The team would like to thank Kelly for being a great coach and volunteering on such short notice. And a special thanks to Miss Madsen for the start of our season.

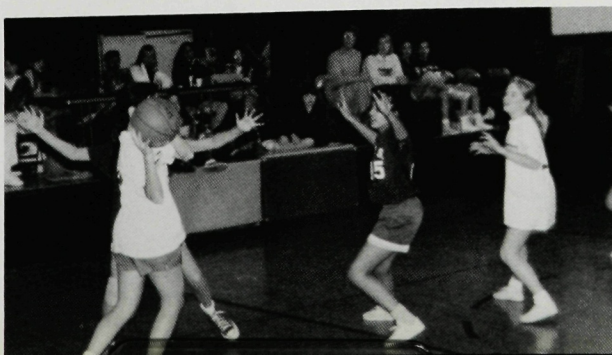

-Laura Fifield and Katie Whittlesey

First graders - ready to be - readers, writers, artists, scientists, entrepreneurs, explorers.

A group of "live wires," who created their own live wires with batteries and bulb. They created a dashboard that beeped and buzzed in a sleek race car, taxi, or police car!

Dinosaurs roamed the room, and the children created exciting books about the friendly Brontosaurus that came to first grade one afternoon, and stayed.

The post office was a busy place. Friends enjoyed writing to each other, and it was fun to be able to read the notes - a new skill for many. The police station registered all the students and kept order in the room while the hospital took care of all emergencies. The travel agency helped to plan many trips.

One of the highlights of the year was travel report given by each child on one of his favorite places. Often parents brought slides and treats which helped describe the life style of the vacation spot.

Some students visited places the explorers lived: Italy, Greece, and Mexico. The explorers they studied included Marco Polo, Stanley and Livingstone, Admiral Byrd, Henry Hudson, and Jacques Cousteau. When they read about Vikings, the class constructed a huge Viking ship with mast and sail which carried them across rough oceans to Iceland, Greenland, and Finland.

These navigators guided the turtle robot across the floor with Logo commands. They programmed him to walk from student to student, to do a dance of circles, and to make his own giant star on paper.

The stars of the first grade did many interesting things. Many of their adventures were recorded in their own books which were highlighted at a Publisher's Party for parents and friends. It was to the publisher's party they went to for a favorite author.

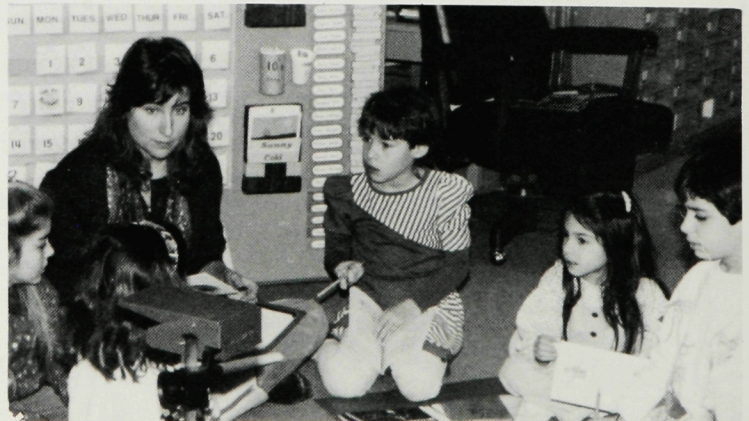

This first grade class had fun together. Their happy smiles brightened every day and the room was filled with sunshine!

Seventh Grade

When we arrived in Seventh grade, things were more familiar here at school. We knew our way around, and we were no longer the youngest in the Middle School. There are many things that we will remember about Seventh grade. We did many activities with our Second grade buddies: apple-picking, Work Day, homecoming, SSR, the Thanksgiving assembly, and other get-togethers during the year. We traveled to southern Illinois for a three-day overnight at Hobson's Farm. The weather was beautiful, and the old farm was great. We did lots of nature studies, and we learned about how a farm is run. We also learned a lot about each other. The trip brought us closer together. Seventh grade was a year of sports, big projects, Secret Santas, field trips, science fair research, and lots of time on the stage. We were a class that enjoyed performing, whether in our classes or in front of the whole school. Seventh grade was also a time of thinking about others. For example, in our Book Drive for Headstart that we organized with the Second grade, we collected over 800 books for Headstart programs. When we look back on Seventh grade, we will think of all our friends. We will think about all the work and all the fun.

Eighth Grade

The people in back: Jenny Edidin, Jenny Caldwell, Kristi Keats, David Johansson, Jon Balen-Tilkin, John Frank, Josh Opdyke, David Pope, J.P. Marizano, Seema Sharma, Margaret Urban, Chris Lee

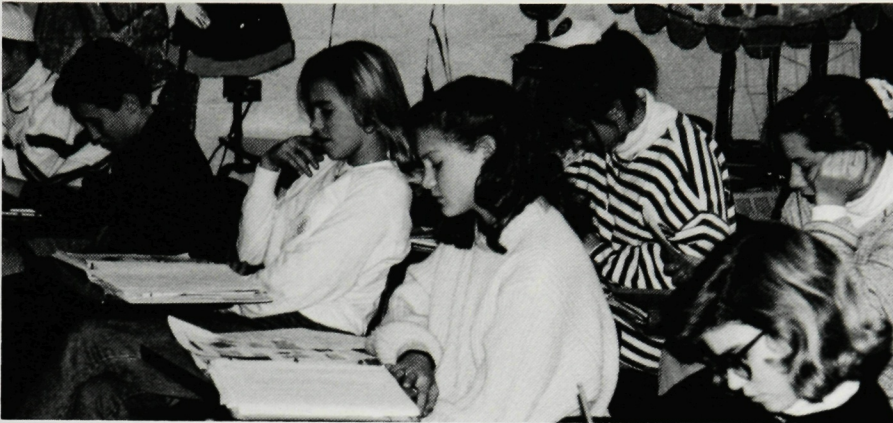

The middle folks: Kim Hedge, Kris Baade, Dan Schwartz, John Brennen, David Lane, Peter Lehman, Jenny Arrington, Peter DeYoung

The folks in front: Amy Marinacci, Carin Healy, Liz Peterson, Katie Whittlesey, Laura Fifield, Jill Kiphart, Chad Charowhas

In addition to going to classes the eighth grade does a number of special things. For example, we have our own recycling program which runs through out the year. We also participate in mini courses on Tuesdays and Thursdays during the Fall and Winter terms. Minis allow us to choose a topic or activity of special interest and pursue it without study, just for fun.

Like other grades in the middle school, eighth elects four reps from homeroom to sit on a student forum and work with Mr. Kramer to plan special activities. This year, in addition to the reps, we have created an eighth grade council made up of three people: a faculty liaison, a secretary, and a court officer. This is the first time anyone has done this and it is working well. Some of the social activities eighth graders are involved in are the Friday night parties: Monte Carlo night, bingo, lip synch, ski trip, skating, talent show, and dances.

Finally the eighth grade takes two trips: one is to Camp Timberlee in Wisconsin where we have many scientific experiments to do as well as group initiatives. The other is new this year...

...well, you won't believe it if we tell you!

The Freshmen

Despite being labeled as "The Class From Hell", this years Freshmen class has, more or less, fit into the framework of the High School. Seasoned with the annual fresh crop of new blood, we have come together quite nicely as a class. So what comes next after such an auspicious first year? Nobody knows for sure, but you can bet that many great things are to come in the next three years!

 3rd row: David Newell, Maciej Ceglowski, Gladys Granados, LeHa Quach, Seth McCulloch.

Wedge in between the terror of Freshman year and the awesome responsibilities of Junior year, the Sophomores get a short respite. Apart from staying in school during School Absence Week (YOU know, all those two day trips the Upper School took) and losing a good couch from the locker room, the sophomores managed to have some fun and exercise their newfound authority over the ninth grade. We now look forward to next year, when we will be able to do some other things that will fill space in a caption for the Junior class their newfound authority over the ninth grade. We now look forward to next year, when we will be able to do some other things that will fill space in a caption for the Junior class

The Junior Class is an Oxymoron.

2nd row: Le Trinh Quach, Tomoko Chizawa, Barry Zgonena, Josh Quinn, Rob McClung, Becky Cutler, Denis Healy, Andrew James

3rd row: Alecia Hampton, Nick Battaglia, Joe Shenton, Kate Kehoe, Nikki Rousseau, Steve Willis, Chelby Hobson, Jordan Leshtz, Danny Beider, Bennett Darrow

Absent: Randall Maconachy, Jake DiFrancesca, Bela Agrawal, Geordie Fry, Zach Oelerich, Steve Timoner, Jenny Stone, Dave Ullman, Gretchen Theders, Tim Garvey, Ed Coleman, Mary Brinkman, Laura Collins, Brian Crane, Tripp Frank, Liza Michaels, Katie Stebbins .

The concept of "Senior Slump" is a well known, and much publicized, concept. Another student ailment is the, less commonly known, "Junior Daze". This freak manifestation of the school system's bureaucracy induces the belief that nothing, especially homework, is real. There are no known cures (though the teachers believe mandatory bonding will help). But we, the Junior class, managed to survive with only marginal casualties.

The Senior Class (in other words: The Local Dieties)

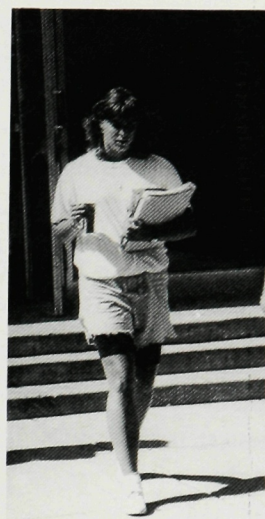

Front row: Wendy Warner, Jann-Nicole Trujillo, Lan Tang, Ping Pipatpanukul, Jenny Jones, Elizabeth Cavanaugh, Mariyn Young, Finisa Wright, Mike Isreal,

4th row: David Borishansky, Lorin Cohen, Keary Rosen, Mike Rastall, Fred Kolehmainen, Andy Wood, Amy Jacobs.

Bonjour, from this year's seniors. We are, of course, like all senior classes, looking forward to going, but we will miss good ole' North Shore. However, being as cool as we are, we'll probably survive. We don't know if you will but, oh well! Anyway, to talk a bit about the class, we are an odd bunch-o-folks, but mighty fun. We are known for our disunity (as opposed to most senior classes) as can be seen by the chaos of our infamous homeroom meetings. (Though they have been improving; we all must say.) I think we have come to one decision, maybe two, with little or no violence in the past four years. Oh well. Now we're off to conquer our world.

It's the Foreign Exchange Students

"Everyone in America loves the English," I was reliably informed about laughing through my stay here. Whether this is time or not, I am extremely grateful that everyone has at least tolerated the presence of a "short-nosed limey" (Mr. Conroy's words, although he was joking- I hope.) in their school over this past year. And what will I take back with me to my scepter'd isle? A lot more friends, a lot more self-confidence, and of course a predilection for saying, "yeah, right, whatever" at any available opportunity.

Alan B

Once people asked me, "What surprised you here?" I said, "the school." Nothing I dreamed about the school life was close to what I actually experienced. People are so friendly and helpful. I learned a lot at school. I feel very lucky that I could come to the nicest school and stayed with the nicest family. It's a great experience. I will remember it forever.

Lan

Thank you very much Mom and Dad.
You are so nice to me.
I love you very very much.

It has been terrific being here in Chicago, and coming to this school. Simply wonderful. I'm very glad I was given the opportunity to come here. It's a lot of fun. Everyone is great. The one thing I like most about being here is meeting new people. Thanks for making it so much fun for me.

Thanx a zillion GUYS!!!

LIFERS!!!

Yes, we are the LIFERS!!!! The four of us have been here for fourteen years. This, of course, is very hard to believe even for us. The four of us can remember such snow days, in second grade, when there were only three people in our class. Finally, this year we were able to do the Hokey Pokey for the third time. This is the reason why we were so much better than the rest of our class. The four of us were the only ones to have such teachers as Mrs. Abelmann and different kindergarten teachers. We like to think that there is a special something needed, maybe never seeing another school to like anyplace else, to get through all these years at North Shore. Whatever it was though, we did it and will be very sad when it comes time to leave.

Senior Prophecies

Jennifer Jones fell in love with the cold and went on a cross Antarctic sledding trip.

Newly risen author Wendy Warner has just completed her new book Zen and the Art of Cello Playing.

Ashley Brown failed out of college because the college wouldn't allow her to miss over half the year.

Erik Alm couldn't be reached for comment.

Feminist Jann-Nicole Trujillo-Smith became the first woman ever to have both her first and last name hyphenated.

Harold Moore, having a monopoly of the gossip magazines, merged them all into one called I Shouldn't Be Telling You This But..

New chairman of the Kenilworth Republican Party, David Birdwell, showed up at the 10 year reunion sporting a tweed suit and a red bowtie.

Keary Rosen, having achieved one with life in India, is now driving a cab in New York complete with a babinga wood dashboard.

Cohosts of ABC's Wide World of Sports, Andy Wood and Mike Israel, for old times sake in the middle of the Indy 500, broke into a wrestling match and succeeded in breaking all the chairs and windows.

This year's Harold Heinz lecturer will be Eugene Roginsky commenting on the accuracy of his debut on channel 50's Samurai Sunday.

Paula Castillo has become a millionaire writing pornographic novels.

Peggy Smith, recently leaving her convent, was heard saying, "Gosh, I've got to find me a man!"

Known impersonator Lorin Cohen recently became the host of the "Tonight Show." When asked why he wanted the job he said, "well, I've always just wanted the attention."

Alumnist Joanne Avery was called back to paint the outside of all the campus buildings. Headmaster Deane Lanphear said, "We just need more color."

Marilyn Young was spotted wearing not a skirt, but a robe-with her head shaved. She was heard saying, "these Hari Krishnas really know here it's at."

Todsaporn Pipatpanukul legally changed her name to Ping Pip to make it easier for everyone to pronounce.

Heidi Rudolph finally learned how to answer a question without waving her arms around, stuttering and at the end saying "yeah."

Former rock climber Amy Jacobs has become a Paris model. She was seen throwing out all her pants for long formal evening gowns and furs.

Doctors recently discovered that Suhaib and Usama Ghazi aren't related, both come from a surrogate mother working double time. Usama comes from a conservative Jewish family on the north side while Suhaib comes from a Greenpeace activist family in San Francisco. (sorry we put you together, but we couldn't resist for the last time.)

Artist Mike Rastall was kicked out of the National Gallery of Art after voicing his opinion on every painting by saying, "It sucks, that one sucks, they all suck!"

Sister Finisa Wright was asked to resign from the order of Dominican nuns as a result of her bare midriff micro mini habit. Asked to comment Sister Finisa replied, "Hey, I don't see what the big deal is."

Kathy Stephan brought her brother to the 10 year reunion; as she walked through the door several of her classmates who hadn't seen her in 10 years cried, "David how have you been?"

After unsuccessfully trying the nine to five work day, Stefani Tomaras has recently embarked on a new career as a high school teacher allowing her to get off at 3:00 and have summers off too.

Alan Beattie has been appointed British Ambassador to the United States. Said Beattie, "I welcome the opportunity to work with a government with whom I have always agreed unequivocally."

George Connors stunned IRS agents in April of 2000 by submitting his '96, '97, '98, '99 and 2000 tax forms on April 15 at 11:59 p.m.

Jenny Gormanous arrived late for her wedding but handed the priest a note from science teacher Jan Migaki explaining her tardiness.

In Beijing, revolutionary Lan Tang stormed the Emperor's quarters in protest of new reforms which called for the awarding of only pass/fail grades in the universities.

Following in the footsteps of idol Henny Youman, David Borishansky has taken to playing the violin and delivering stand up comedy to clubs around the world.

Jon Resnick was recently appointed vice-president in charge of test marketing for the Bike Athletic Supporter Co.

Win Repenning has been appointed C.E.O. of Jiffy Lube Inc.

Fred Kolehmainen has started and quit 10 jobs since graduating from college. When asked why, he replied, "I play tennis on Friday nights."

Senator Shanna Horner enraged Capitol Hill colleagues last week by delivering a 15 hour nonstop filibuster doubling the total words spoken in all of her classes.

Coleco recently hired Todd Rohlen to develop video games. His first creation is entitled "My House," the object of which is to go through a series of maze-like enclosures to get to the kitchen.

Ellen Kelly has been named curator of the Library of Congress. Said an excited Ellen, "My God, thousand and thousands of books I can't wait to start tackling them all."

Newly appointed C.E.O. of Ann Taylor Ciara McDonagh was heard saying, "Well now I don't have to pay for extensive my wardrobe."

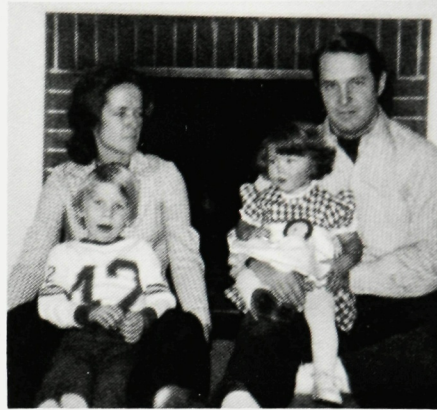

The North Shore community was shocked to discover the conspiracy in which Beth Cavanaugh planted the five dollars which her brother found and "generously" returned. Said Beth, "My family never gets recognized for being the wonderful people that we are."

Don't be dismayed at the good-byes
There is no such thing as a good-bye, only farewell.
A farewell is needed before you can meet again.
And meeting again, after moments or lifetimes is certain for those who are friends.

Prairie League

■ Outlook: With Rockford Lutheran leaving the league, Lake Forest Academy, with outstanding three-sport athletes Zaid Abdul-Aleem and Eric Stieser, will be the team to beat.

■ 1988 state qualifiers: Defending champion Rockford Lutheran (lost in playoff's first round); Lake Forest Academy (lost in first round).

■ Top players: TB-DB Abdul-Aleem (6-1, 177), QB Stieser (5-9, 145), TE-LB John Springer (6-2, 185), Lake Forest Academy, QB Brian Keyes (6-1, 175), TB Sonny Usher (5-10, 170), Mooseheart, FB Scott Fry (6-2, 190), DT Jamie Jarosz (5-1, 180), Williams Bay, QB-TB Jeff Beck (5-8, 170), Alden-Hebron, FB Mike Jankel (5-10, 220), North Shore.

■ Quotable: From Lake Forest Academy coach John Morrissey: "I think it will come down to us and Mooseheart."

■ Key games: Mooseheart at Lake Forest Academy Oct. 21; Alden-Hebron at Mooseheart Oct. 14.

■ Predicted finish: Lake Forest Acad., Mooseheart, Alden-Hebron, Williams Bay, North Shore Country Day, Northwestern Military.

Your children are not your children. They are the sons and daughters of life's longing for it's self. They come through you but not from you, and though they are with you, yet they belong not to you. You may give them your love but not your thoughts, for they have their own thoughts. You may house their bodies but not their souls, for their souls dwell in the house of tomorrow, which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams. You may strive to be like them, but seek not to make them like you. For life goes not backward nor tarries with yesterday. This is one of the only big spaces left in the book so I thought I would use it. I first would like to thank the people who put up with me when I was in a rotten mood because of the yearbook. Though, there was also a select few who helped me not do all the work. This does include Liam and all of those people who did various jobs for me throughout the year. The yearbook is finally done and hopefully now we can enjoy the fruit of our labour.
